

Beckenham Photographic Society

Beckenham Photographic Society (BPS) encourages the enjoyment of photography and better image making through lectures, demonstrations and competitions, as it has done since its beginnings in 1921. We are forward looking, embracing developments in photographic styles and technology, while maintaining respect for and appreciation of traditional techniques.

The society is a friendly place where new members can develop their photographic interests through a variety of weekly activities described in our programme. We encourage new members to participate in all aspects of the club's activities, including competitions and events throughout the year.

We also have a Better Imaging Group which meets every six weeks or so and is an informal setting where members can discuss their images and share ideas and photographic know-how.

See our galleries on our flickr site (www.flickr.com/groups/beckenham_photographic)

Meetings are held on Wednesdays at 7.45 pm for 8pm on Wednesdays between September and May at:

St. John's Church Halls
Eden Park Avenue
BECKENHAM BR3 3JN

Come along to one of our Wednesday meetings. We hope that you will find a friendly atmosphere in which to meet others who are keen to enjoy and improve their photography.

Visitors are always welcome.

Our programme has a mixture of print, slide and digital imaging talks, competitions and club evenings where members present their recent work and photographic ideas. Membership

You can join BPS at any Wednesday meeting or by contacting our membership secretary.
